Program Types:

One-to-one Tutoring

We'll match you with a trained volunteer tutor. You'll compare your current abilities with what you'd like to be able to do, and your tutor will work with you to reach those goals. This option provides you with scheduling flexibility and privacy.

Small groups

After determining your abilities and goals, we support your transition to a small classroom setting. Here, we'll cover literacy related topics such as spelling, employability skills, "work language", critical thinking and problem-solving. This "training" or "bridging" component helps you seek further training or upgrading.

We also offer:

- Continuous entry; year-round programming
- Day and evening programs
- Sensitivity to individual needs
- Individual tutors, small groups and classes
- Individual training programs
